Ofsted praises Oldfields Hall Middle School for its Good Quality Education

Oldfields Hall Middle School has maintained its Ofsted 'good' grade. Inspectors found that pupils are happy and eager to learn. Leaders have designed an ambitious and broad curriculum. They also have high expectations for all pupils including those with special educational needs and disabilities and those who are disadvantaged.

Carl Gliddon, Headteacher, Oldfields Hall Middle School, said: "Our priority is to ensure that pupils feel safe and happy and that they are well taught and eager to learn. We are delighted with this Ofsted report that is a tribute to the attitude and efforts of our children and staff."
